ATKINS' DEFALCATION.

Secretary Delano's Friend, Mrs. Brady—Her Husband Steals $4,000—and Mrs. Delano Protects Him.

Correspondence of the N. Y. Sun.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The editorial article in the Sun, of the 13th instant, in relation to the defalcation of James Atkins, who has recently been appointed to the Collectorship of the port of Savannah, Georgia, does some injustice to that individual. It is true that Mr. Atkins is a defaulter to the government to the extent of $4,000, and that the liability was incurred while he was Collector of the Fourth Collection District of Georgia, which included the city of Atlanta. But there are other parties who are both morally and legally responsible for a portion of the liabilities which are charged upon Mr. Atkins. There is a [illegible] of history connected with this [illegible] which, in justice to all concerned, should be told.

While the Hon. Columbus Delano was a member of Congress, he boarded at the house of a female friend in the city of Washington. The family, including the lady herself, received many substantial favors from the honorable member from the Ohio District. After Mr. Delano became Commissioner of Internal Revenue, this lady passed as the wife of one Luther B. Brady, who was a resident of Washington city. This Mr. Brady was nominated, at the solicitation of Mr. Delano, as United States Assessor for the Fourth Collection District of Georgia, but the Senate refused to confirm the appointment on account of Brady's non-residence in the State. Soon after this, Brady, on the recommendation of Delano, was appointed by Collector Atkins Deputy Collector, and in the latter part of 1869 he went to Atlanta and took charge of the Collector's office. As he was so highly recommended, Mr. Atkins did not hesitate to intrust him with the custody of the safe keys and the management of all the business. He had given satisfactory bonds, Ward H. Lamon and John Fitzhugh of Washington being his bondsmen. He also took with him and introduced to the society of Atlanta as his wife Mr. Delano's late lady friend.

In March, 1870, it was discovered that Brady had appropriated to his own use $4,000 of the government money, and Atkins at once wrote to Mr. Delano, informing him of what had occurred and requesting that, inasmuch as he had recommended Brady, he would at once secure the services of some good attorney in Washington, who together with himself, should take the necessary steps to secure him from all loss. To this request Mr. Delano replied that he was not acquainted with the Washington bar, and could not undertake to recommend, much less employ an attorney to act in this case. He also intimated that his time was too much occupied to allow himself to be troubled with matters of such a nature. Upon receipt of this letter, Mr. Atkins immediately commenced proceedings, under the State laws, against Brady who had been suspended. He was arrested for larceny after trust, because it was discovered that not only had he stolen the $4,000, but that his bonds had also been removed from the safe and destroyed. For some reason not yet made public this case against Brady was not pushed; but he was arrested on information lodged with the United States Commissioner, and was brought before that official for a preliminary hearing. At this opportune moment the reputed Mrs. Brady appeared on the scene from Washington. She boldly marched into the Commissioner's office and demanded that the case against her husband be removed to Washington. She contended that that was the proper place for both the hearing and trial if any were necessary, as it was the home of her husband as well as of his bondsmen. She, however, scoffed at the idea of any proceedings being continued against him, and asserted that Mr. Delano was her friend, and would see that everything was made right. Upon the counsel of Mr. Atkins making inquiry as to her intimacy with Mr. Delano, she indignantly replied: "Mr. Delano is my intimate friend, and my family are upon such intimate terms with him, that the very shawl I wear (an expensive one) is a present from him!" There was some confer[ence] [illegible] between the parties and the Commissioner, and the case was finally removed here to Washington, where Brady was released on bail, and is now at liberty. From that day to this Mr. Atkins has been unable to bring him to justice. It also has transpired that he was[illegible] is not, and never was, his lawful wife.

SUNDAY'S DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The Treasury buys one million dollars' worth of bonds each Wednesday, and sells one million dollars' worth of gold each Thursday during July. The Treasury has called in one and a half million of 5 per cent [illegible] certificates.

It appears, from an official statement just prepared at the office of Internal Revenue, that on the 1st of May, the quantity of spirits in bond was 8,6[illegible] gallons. The number of distilleries running on June 1st was 213, of a daily capacity of 217,682 gallons. The decrease in the number of distilleries since the 1st of June was twenty, while the increase in capacity of those in operation was 9,860 gallons. The decrease pertains to small establishments. The increase of production is accorded from the fact that the tax is now 61 cents, but on and after the first of August by the new law, it will be seventy cents. It is probable, judging by the information received, there will be a still further increase of manufacture so as to fill the bond warehouses between now and the first of August.

Twelve volumes of Ku Klux testimony have been printed and delivered at the folding rooms of the capitol and three more are to be added, making in all about 8,000 printed octavo pages.

The report published yesterday that Lieut. McKenzie, Lieutenant Smith and eight men were surprised and killed by the Indians in Texas forts Belknap and Jacksboro is not credited at the War Department, as no information has been reported by Gen. Augur, commanding at San Antonio, with whom the War Department has daily telegraphic communication.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The Herald's special from Madrid says the resignation of Captain General Valmaseda has been accepted. Caballos will act temporarily.

The weather—The thermometer ranged from ninety-four to one hundred. There were seven sun strokes to-day.

The bakers are expected to strike at an early day for an increase of wages and reduction of hours.

The strike of the packing box makers was successful, a large number of employers having acceded to the demands of the men.

Another mass meeting of the bosses mentioned is probable for next week, when it is expected some decided steps will be taken.

ST. JOSEPH, MO., June 30.—While the workmen on the bridge repairing caisson to pivot pier this afternoon, a portion of the support gave way precipitating five men into the river—one drowned.

A man named Clymer, from Berks county, Pennsylvania, was robbed of seven thousand dollars to-day, while asleep on the westward bound train on the Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad, between Brookfield and Cameron. Several valuable papers were also taken.

MONDAY'S NOON DISPATCHES

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The weather last night and to-day is intensely hot, the thermometer continuing at about 90 degrees. Reports from the Eastern States represent the heat as being very great yesterday.

The World to-day says Greeley's nomination at Baltimore is a foregone conclusion, and that there is no indication of a formidable revolt.

It adds, there will be but two candidates; for our part we shall advise nobody to vote for Grant, and as between the remaining alternative of voting for Greeley or staying at home, we have no counsel to offer. Our duty may more clearly appear after the canvass has made some progress.

Long lists of sunstrokes are published this morning.

The Federal Council of the Internationals held a meeting yesterday. The International Congress will be held in Philadelphia next week to seek the establishment of the reunion of all the discordant elements.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 1.—Jacob Dodd's pork establishment was burned. Loss $75,000. Hogs on the upper floors were roasted alive.

BOSTON, MASS., July 1.—The Irish band arrived this morning and proceeded direct to the quarters prepared for them at the Everett House. To-morrow morning a public reception will be given the band by the Irish societies of Boston and vicinity. The weather to-day is the hottest of the season.

GENEVA, SWITZ., July 1.—The Alabama Claims Arbitration Tribunal in dealing with the direct claims of the American Government will consider respectively the character of the Confederate cruisers and award damages according to its findings.

BERLIN, PRUSSIA, July 1.—The arbitration on the San Juan boundary question will now proceed. Bismarck is about to appoint international jurists to examine the papers submitted by the English and American governments and report to the Emperor.

[CORRECTED DAILY.]

CONSTITUTION OFFICE, ATLANTA, July 1, 1 o'clock, P. M.

REMARKS.—This morning very warm with some little appearance of a shower during the day. Trade opens tolerable fair for Monday. There were no new features in the trade of last week. A tolerable good business was done in all departments.

MONEY.—We find no quotable changes for several days past in local financial matters. A conservative policy is pursued by lenders, and a generous treatment is extended to legitimate dealers.

CROPS.—The reports received during the week from the crops in this section were of a flattering nature. There has been some conflicting reports from some sections relative to the wheat crop, still, doubtless, the crop is a fine one. Both corn and cotton are growing rapidly under the influence of the genial rays of the sun. If there is any objection to be entered in regard to the crops, it is that we fear that a majority of our agricultural friends have not planted corn enough for their own use, and next spring will be compelled to adopt the suicidal plan of purchasing again. Every week sales of corn are now being made by our merchants to planters. What a reflection that Georgia planters do not raise corn sufficient for home use. From January to January our farmers toil over cotton, purchase mules, horses, corn, bacon and hay, and at the end of twelve months have no money in their pockets, no provisions on their premises, and their credits strained at the stores. This policy keeps Georgia in its impoverished condition.

FLOUR.—There has not been enough new flour received yet to materially effect the market, and good grades of the old stock are held rather steady. This week will probably make some decided changes in prices.

CORN.—Stocks of white corn are small and holders not willing to make concessions. Yellow is in much better supply and offering freely.

MEATS are stiff, with better demand. Canvassed hams are advancing steadily, and choice brands are held at 14½c.

COTTON.—Quiet at 24¼.

Call for State Democratic Convention

ATLANTA, GA., June 26, 1872.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the State, held this day, it was resolved, that a Convention of the Democratic party be held in the city of Atlanta, on Wednesday, the 24th day of July next, at 12 o'clock M., in the Capitol building, in Atlanta, for the purpose of nominating an Electoral Ticket, and a candidate for Governor. Counties will be entitled to the usual representation.

JULIAN HARTRIDGE,
Chairman.

Our Weekly.

THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTION, which is issued to-day, will contain the full proceedings of the Democratic State Convention, General Toombs' late speech, Judge Hopkins's sentence of O'Neal, an interesting account of the execution of Lloyd and Holsenbake, and a variety of other interesting reading. The Weekly can be had at our business office for five cents a copy, in wrappers.

Mayor James for Governor.

The card of Mayor John H. James, announcing himself as candidate for Governor, in response to the solicitation of his friends was published the other morning. We are informed that he submits his candidacy to the State Democratic Convention, on the 24th of this month, to be held in Atlanta. This is right and proper. The battle therefore is before the Democratic tribunal, and inside the party.

We see the Macon Enterprise hoists his name.

The Alumni of Oglethorpe University are requested to meet at DeGive's Opera House at 9 o'clock this morning.

We Need all the Democrats.

On the contrary, it was very manifest that the opinions of Messrs. Stephens and Toombs had made a very marked impression in Georgia, and that their names were still a power in the State. It is very true that on the Presidential question a very large majority of the people of Georgia differ from them as did a majority of their delegates in Convention. But it is equally true that the Convention exhibited great deference for them in the cautious and skillful manner in which it sought to avoid open conflict with them, and in the marked desire to secure their present adhesion to the party and their future aid and services in the struggles yet before it. It is greatly to be hoped that the bright intellects and statesmanlike training of both Alexander H. Stephens, and his distinguished brother, Judge Linton Stephens, will be brought often into the field of service when Democratic principle and policy are to be vindicated. The same is indulged in by Democrats in Georgia in regard to the brilliant, still powerful, but erratic Toombs. The prejudices of the hour will fade out; the excitement of a campaign will pass by with the occasion. But the intellectual powers of the great men of a State are solid treasures which must prove of permanent value.—Augusta Constitutionalist.

The above is right, and correct. While we believe a large majority of the people differ with the leaders above mentioned as to the policy to be pursued, yet they have a large and respectable backing in many of the best Democrats in Georgia. The facts should be frankly stated. It is no slight compliment to Judge Stephens that the declaration of Democratic principles for two successive State party conventions should have come from him.

In the coming contest, we shall need the ... co-operation of the entire party, ... for anything to occur ... the services of worthy gentlemen ... so steadily, ably, and honestly ... policy the majority appear inclined ... the ... united Democratic ... when the hour of battle comes.

Greeley or Grant!

A Manifesto from Cassius M. Clay.

WHITE HALL, KY., July 18, 1872.

To the People of Kentucky:

The platform and the candidates of the Cincinnati Convention are before you. The first avows all the great principles upon which our government was founded, and which have given our country a growth and prosperity unknown before in history. The candidates are men of unquestioned ability, patriotism and honesty. There is no liberty without law, and no form of government can exist but a despotism when the Treasury is robbed with impunity. U. S. Grant has usurped all the powers of government, the judicial and legislative being added to the executive. He habitually and obstinately violates the laws of the land, and allows the Treasury, knowingly, to be robbed. To-day we live under a centralized despotism, impelled by the lowest instincts, tastes and self-indulgence; which, unlike European aristocracies, shares nothing with the people, but absorbs all their substance for camp followers who are equally corrupt and vicious. The Philadelphia Convention, composed, as was never before seen in our nation, of office-holders and time-servers, have shown themselves fit followers of Grant. Nothing remains to us but the union of all lovers of liberty and manhood upon the Cincinnati nominees, or defeat and the unlimited rule of the Grant conspirators. Kentuckians, we have no love for party or personal past or future aspirations above country. Join us, then, and save the nation. Let honest men rule; let amnesty restore the States to their legitimate rights; let the military yield to the civil power; let the National Government return to constitutional law, and let all citizens of every race and condition stand equal in civil and political liberty before the law. We have a majority on these great issues. Let not party, inferior questions, or personal ambitions lose us and the world self-government. Now, to-day, we must save ourselves; another day may be forever too late.

CASSIUS M. CLAY,
Chairman Prov. Ex. Committee.

The above puts the difference between Greeley and Grant well, and coming from a Republican, and a very leading one at that, it has a peculiar significance in showing that the Republicans who support Greeley understand him as being the advocate of those Democratic principles which have been subverted during Radical rule, and a return to which is necessary for the country's good.

We are certainly willing to accept their own exposition of their views from the Liberal Republicans, who, to maintain them have revolted from the dominant party in the very zenith of its power, and while in the enjoyment of the full patronage of the government. If sincerity is to be tested by action, these men are sincere. They leave the flesh pots and take the chances of defeat when already in power, to check the abuses of their own party. They withdraw from a victorious army because it has abused its victory, and they seek to defeat that very army that they assisted to success. They boldly proclaim political doctrines that for years they have opposed, and this because trial has shown them that those doctrines alone can secure the prosperity of the country. Alarmed at the result of experiments they shared in, they urge a return to the true faith.

Yet there are those among us of our own party who see no difference between these Republican revolters from despotism and political heresy, and the Grant faction that clings to its despotism and heresies.

Cassius Clay, the able Kentucky Republican, whom we quote above, has told the difference well. We commend his card to our friends, that they may see how closely the Liberal Republicans stand to the Democracy in urging the re-establishment of a constitutional government. After long years of weary fruitless fighting for constitutional liberty, the Democracy sees a gallant band of her enemies seeking an alliance to establish that liberty.

It has seemed to us a shocking blindness to fact, to say that as they now stand, there is no difference between Greeley and Grant. Let them have been together as harmoniously as they may in the past, they are now widely asunder, pointedly antagonistic. One represents the popular up-rising of indignant freedom against a rule of despotism, lead by the other. One stands in revolt against a centralization of power that the other enforces.

Let Greeley be as black as he can be painted. The devil must have his due. Greeley to-day heads Republican opposition to what Clay brands as "centralized despotism." So far the Democracy can approve and should approve.

☞ Ex-Confederate General Joe Johnston, it is said, is "not for Greeley," believing that his election would only continue the Radicals in power under another head.—Exchange.

We have good reasons for the belief that General Johnston entertains no such opinion, and that he will vote for Greeley if indorsed or otherwise accepted at Baltimore.—Savannah Republican.

Not an Independent Candidate

ATLANTA, GA., July 1, 1872.

Editors Constitution: An erroneous opinion seems to have gone abroad that the Hon. John H. James is an independent candidate for Governor. Such is not the case. His card was in response to numerous urgent requests from his many friends in various parts of the State to allow the use of his name in the Democratic Convention, that would soon assemble at Atlanta.

He responded to these various requests by publishing a card in the city papers, in substance yielding to their demands, and nothing more.

Mr. James' friends desired him to publicly announce his willingness to become a candidate inasmuch as the time allowed between the call and the assembling of the Convention would allow but a few counties to express their preferences in the choice of a Governor and the practical effect would be a "snap judgment" against all worthy aspirants except the present incumbent—hence the card.

Please communicate this fact and Mr. James, as soon as he returns to the city, will correct the error above alluded to, if necessary, over his own signature.

Greeley's Hidden Strength.

The Macon Telegraph has this statement:

On dit of a Georgia Congressman that a week or two ago in the House talking earnestly in deprecation of the support of Greeley, a Republican member took him aside with the remark, "I want to talk to you." When they had got to themselves, says the Republican: "——, I don't like to hear you committing yourself in this way against the Cincinnati ticket." "Why so?" said our member; "what concern can it possibly be to you?" "Why this," said the Republican: "I think your convention will indorse that ticket, and if so, you will have to review your purposes, and we shall be together in supporting that ticket. You do not know what is going on; but I tell you fifty of the men who now sit on the administration side of the house will be with you in supporting Greeley, if indorsed by the Baltimore Convention, as I think he will be. This, we learn on good authority, was not an ideal conversation.

The crowded hotels, the gaily dressed belles and beaux, the music, the ribbons, the excited students, the very atmosphere of the place, all tell that the hard year's work is over, and that the Professors and students of Washington and Lee University are greeting their friends as they gather to another annual commencement.

Your correspondent hears on all sides the most hearty congratulations on what has been accomplished by

THE UNIVERSITY DURING THE PAST YEAR.

It was feared that the death of Gen. Lee, the short crops, and the "hard times," would very greatly reduce the number of students, and injuriously affect the future prospects of the University. We are happy to learn that these fears have been, by no means, realized. They have had 300 students (a larger number of academics than any other college in the South,) who come from twenty different States, and the session has been one of hard work and most excellent order. The new President (Gen. G. W. Custis Lee,) has won golden opinions from Professors, students, and citizens on the ability and tact he has shown in the discharge of his important duties, and it seems to be conceded on all hands that "the mantel of the father has fallen on the son."

Indeed there is no institution in the country that is blessed with an abler, harder-working faculty, or a more studious and orderly set of students. The interest in the daily chapel services, which are conducted in turn by the ministers of the four churches in Lexington, has been greatly enhanced by a fine choir, who lead the singing to the accompaniment of the splendid organ presented to Lee Chapel by Mrs. Young, of Houston, and other ladies of Texas.

The Young Men's Christian Association, which provides a reading room filled with choice literature, gathers the students in prayer meetings and Bible classes, and sends out laborers among the destitute poor around the University, has flourished during the past session.

In a word, the results of the past session are an earnest of

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR THE FUTURE.

Indeed, when we consider the wide range of the course of study, the high standard of the scholarship required, and the enlightened liberal policy of the trustees and faculty, we do not wonder that it is exciting such general interest all through the country, and that its friends are seeking to endow it with everything necessary to a first class university.

The legacy of R. H. Bailey, of New Orleans, of seventy thousand dollars, the determination of Mr. Leander McCormick, of Chicago, to donate the University at least one hundred and fifty thousand dollars to found a splendid observatory, the gift of W. W. Corcoran, Esq., of Washington, of the splendid "Howard library," the success of General R. D. Lilley, the agent of the University, in raising funds for the endowment, and other indications plainly show that the unfinished work of their late illustrious President is to go on to completion until "Washington and Lee University" shall be indeed a fit monument of the great and good men whose names it so appropriately bears. But we started to tell of the present "commencement," which opened very pleasantly on Sunday morning, with the preached by Bishop Atkinson, of North Carolina. According to custom, all of the churches of Lexington suspended their services, and the pastors and their congregations went to participate in this common service, filling the chapel with an audience which might well stir a preacher's mind and heart. Selecting as his text Is. I, 18, "Come now, let us reason together." The Bishop argued to show that neither wealth, nor fame, nor present enjoyment can bring true happiness, and earnestly appealed to the young men to seek Christ as the only means of happiness in this life and that that is to come.

The music upon the occasion (led by the chapel choir and the organ) was very sweet.

The rain last night broke up the celebration of the "Ugly Club," from which so much fun was anticipated, but their "Uglinesses" will exhibit themselves on Thursday evening.

The society celebrations to-night were a grand success. A large audience, composed of the beauty, dignity, intelligence and manly hope gathered here on this festive occasion, greeted the young orators, who greatly distinguished themselves.

The old medal of the Washington Society given to its best debater, was awarded to Mr. I. W. Stephens, of Texas; that to the best debater to Mr. W. Topp, of Mississippi.

The Graham-Lee Society awarded her debater's medal to Mr. Joseph W. Taylor, of Waco, Texas, and its declaimer's medal to Mr. F. H. Heiskell, of Memphis.

The President of the Washington Society, Mr. R. A. Waller, of Chicago, and the President of the Graham-Lee, Mr. J. A. Lacy, of St. Louis, presented these medals very gracefully, and the recipients responded in very neat little speeches, models of appropriateness and good taste.

The orator of the Washington Society, Mr. G. Sautiui, of New Orleans, made an admirable speech on "Moral Greatness." Mr. R. J. Richie, of Waco, Texas, made one of the most sensible speeches we have ever heard, on "The Bondage of the Mind." His speech did credit to his head and heart, and would have been worthy of a much older orator.

By a singular coincidence, these two orators were the recipients of the prizes for the best essays in the University paper—"The Collegian"—Mr. Richie winning the "Santine gold medal," (established by Mr. Jos. Santine, of New Orleans,) for the best article, and Mr. Santine the "Gazette prize," (awarded by the editors of the Lexington Gazette,) for the next best article.

The prizes, at the request of the societies, were presented by Rev. Dr. Henry Alexander, of Hampden-Sidney Theological Seminary, in a little speech of rare beauty and appropriateness.

The whole occasion was a brilliant one, reflecting the highest credit upon both the societies and the University.

If agreeable I will send another letter on the concluding part of the exercises of this most pleasant commencement. J. W. J.

NEW YORK, July 1.—Stokes' trial was resumed this morning. A large crowd was present and hundreds turned away.

H. D. Carley, the parlor man at the hotel, testified that the pistol which was handed him by Miss Hall was a silver-plated, white handle six shooter. The pistol produced by Coroner Young, which had a brown wood handle and only four chambers, was handed the witness, and he was positive it was not the one handed him by Miss Hall. Considerable interest was manifested when the witness stated that the pistol produced by Coroner Young was not the pistol given him by the woman at the hotel.

Witness resumed: The ladies gathered around him (witness) and said: "You had better say nothing, Henry; it might endanger your position." Stokes did not go into the parlor where the lady found the white-handle pistol.

Miss Grace Hall testified to finding a pistol in the parlor. There was no one near the lounge. The pistol is said to be Stokes'. It was shown her but she failed to identify it, but was positive that the one she found did not have a white handle.

BOSTON, MASS., July 1.—The Labor Reform party has decided on a conference at Germania Hall assembly rooms, New York, on Tuesday afternoon, July 20th, Judge Davis and Governor Parker having declined their nomination. Governor Parker, in his letter of declination, says:

I have always been a member of the Democratic party, for nearly 35 years. I have shared its triumphs and its defeats, adhering to its fortunes because I considered its success essential to good government, and to the elevation of the laboring classes. Having been placed in important public position as the nominee of that party, I am bound in honor as well as by instigation to stand by its organization, and to abide by the decision of its National Convention to be the candidate of one party, while supporting the nominees of another, although the two may agree substantially in principle, it would be inconsistent, and I therefore respectfully decline the nomination tendered me by the Convention you represent.

Grand Jury Presentments.

FIRST WEEK.

FULTON SUPERIOR COURT.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, April 12, 1872.

We, the Grand Jury of Fulton county, for the first week of April Term, 1872, of Fulton Superior Court respectfully submit the following presentments:

In accordance with Section 16, Georgia School Law, of October 13th, 1870, as amended by the law of January 19th, 1872, we have elected the Hon. W. A. Wilson and Thomas Moore for the purpose of serving on the County Board of Education for the term of four years, and B. F. Walker, E. M. Taliafaro and James M. Chapman for the term of two years on same Board.

On motion of Dr. H. L. Wilson, it was resolved that in the opinion of this body a County Court as contemplated in act approved January 19th, 1872, is not at all needed at present.

The Hon. Daniel Pittman, Ordinary of Fulton county, reports that from October 4th, 1871, to April 7th, 1872, the sum of $757 50 has been paid to County Treasurer on account of liquor license, and that since the Inferior Court was abolished, September 26th, 1868, he has caused to be collected for liquor license and estrays sold $4,128 70.

The committee to examine books of the Ordinary report them nicely and legibly kept, exhibiting an increase of revenue from license, etc. They recommend that all estrays be sold at the Court House, and that the Legislature pass a law to that effect. They also recommend that the Ordinary attach a copy of the law in regard to selling liquor to drunken men to all liquor licences. The books of the Clerk of the Superior Court the committee have not had time to investigate, and recommend that the incoming Grand Jury examine. The committee find the books of the Ordinary in the financial department neatly and, so far as we could see in the time allowed us, are correctly kept. It is our opinion that the expense account as perquisites in keeping the county prison are unnecessarily large.

The Committee on Roads make no report, owing to the time being consumed on special juries.

The committee to investigate the condition of the Alms House have been so closely confined at the court house they are unable to report.

We have visited the county prison and find it an elegant, beautiful and comfortable building, reflecting credit upon the Ordinary and county; every attention has been given to health and security in its construction. We recommend that some attention be given to the Court House or City Hall.

The grand jury recommend that the Ordinary ... Peachtree road extended from its terminus at city limits in North avenue, on original land line, to what is known as the big poplar, believing that the necessities of that portion of the county demand it.

The Committee to examine the Tax Receiver's books report the taxable property $17,356,802; poll and professional tax, $5,063 00. Press of time has prevented us from examining the books of the Sheriff. The Receiver's books are neatly and properly kept.

The Committee to examine the books of the Treasurer find them kept in a business-like manner—clear, intelligible and correct.

They find the receipts from October, 1871, to this Term $42,840 51, and disbursements $38,070 68, leaving a balance on hand of $4,769 63. As a faithful, honest and competent man he has no superior.

We, the Grand Jury, feel grateful to his Honor J. L. Hopkins for the kind and courteous manner in which he has dealt with this body. The Solicitor General, J. T. Glenn, has been exceedingly attentive and diligent in his attentions to this body.

About two-thirds the lumber was destroyed. Loss about $500; insurance [illegible] No. 1 played through about 2,000 feet of hose. All the companies were out, and rendered valuable service.

GRATIFYING.—The success attained by the Public Schools thus early in their history is peculiarly gratifying. And now our City Fathers should proceed at once to build a school house on Marietta street. The present building is rented and not suitable. We hope that Aldermen Fowler and Leyden will see that the children in their ward are provided with a comfortable school house.

POETICAL ADDRESS.—The following is a verbatim copy of the address on a letter received in this city:

"To the State of old Georgia this letter must go,
To the city of Atlanta, the capitol, you know,
And when its gets there I hope it will stay
'Til my friend Johnnie Woodruff takes it away."

FLOATINGS.—Alderman Fowler has ripe watermelons grown in Atlanta on the 26th.

CELEBRATION OF THE LITERARY SOCIETIES.—The celebration of the Thalian and Delta literary societies of Oglethorpe University came off at DeGive's last night. A large and intelligent audience was assembled.

The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. [illegible]

[illegible] of the Thalians was W. A. Dowell, [illegible] of the Deltas P. B. Gailland.

[illegible] credit to the speakers. They were [illegible] showers of bouquets on the stage [illegible] high appreciation of the orators by the audience.

A NEW NOVEL, by James De Mille, whose "American Baron" and "Dodge Family" have been so popular, has just been commenced in Appletons' Journal. It is entitled "An Open Question," and is pronounced, for variety of character, for intricacy of plot, and for profusion of dramatic situations and startling incident, superior to anything he has yet written. The first chapters will be found in Appletons' Journal, No. 171 of the date of July 6th. It will be continued for several months, each number illustrated.

DEKALB COUNTY BIBLE SOCIETY.—The annual meeting of the DeKalb County Bible Society [illegible] Decatur Sunday. The address was delivered by General A. H. Colquitt—plain, practicable [illegible] eloquent.

[illegible] was contributed to the Bible cause.

[illegible] CLASS OF OGLETHORPE UNIVERSITY.—The Junior Class of Oglethorpe University deliver [illegible] addresses this morning at DeGive's [illegible]

[illegible] A. C. [illegible]—"Build up the Future—" [illegible] W. H. [illegible] [illegible] to Labor and to [illegible] [illegible] "Magnae [illegible] Vir[illegible]" [illegible] Alumni by Colonel L. W. [illegible] at the same place, will be [illegible] late Judge Nisbet by Dr. [illegible] General Alfred H. Colquitt.

SOPHOMORE DECLARATION.—A large and fashionable audience assembled at DeGive's yesterday morning to listen to declamation by the Sophomore Class of Oglethorpe University.

On the stage we noticed Rev. D. Wills, President, Professors Stevens, Frazier and Richardson, Rev. J. S. Wilson, D.D., G. J. Orr, State School Commissioner, Rev. W. M. Janes, Principal Atlanta Boys' High School, Rev. A. T. Spalding, D.D., Rev. A. L. Hamilton, and Gen. A. C. Garlington. Dr. [illegible] band discoursed sweet music for the occasion.

The exercises opened with an impressive prayer by Rev. Dr. Spalding.

A. S. Clayton delivered an original [illegible] "Shakespear," which was loudly applauded, and made the recipient of several bouquets.

J. F. Daniel declaimed in splendid style "The Contentment of Europe," entering into the spirit of the South, who delivered it, with vim.

C. G. Eckford was the general favorite, and at the close of his declamation of "The effect of the Coercive system on Ireland," the stage was almost covered with flowery testimonials from the hands of fair ones.

"The Impeachment of Warren Hastings," was declaimed by J. H. Jones, with almost the fire and energy of Burke.

Poetry is always difficult to declaim, but the rendition of "In the land where we were dreaming," by R. R. Mitchell, was capital, and elicited warm applause.

H. M. Reid declaimed "Against employing Indians in war" with a vim and power almost equalling the Earl of Chatham.

Rev. George Croly's graphic description of "The Crucifixion," was rendered by J. H. Robinson with a fidelity to the author, and a force and emphasis not to be excelled.

The speakers all did well and received not only the applause of the audience, but many tokens of appreciation in the shape of bouquets.

Few "Juniors" can make a better display than the Sophomores did yesterday.

The benediction was pronounced by Dr. Spalding.

TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS.—THE EQUITABLE AHEAD.—We learn that E. Platt, Esq., the wide awake, energetic and live General Agent of the Equitable Life Assurance Society has secured an application for a policy of insurance on his life from one of our largest capitalists and one recognized as a very successful financier for $25,000.

It is doubtful if so large a application has ever been made to any company from Atlanta before. This shows the enterprise and industry of Mr. Platt, the General Agent, and is another evidence of the sagacity and superior judgment of the gentleman making the application, and seeking an investment for a "rainy day," by selecting a company which is accustomed to issue policies for large sums; one that holds a leading position in the financial world; one of rapid growth and wonderful success; one that issues yearly over forty millions of Life policies, and one doing the heaviest Life Insurance business of any company in the world, as well as the soundest.

The assets of the Equitable are $18,000,000 and its annual income [illegible] or more. An investigation into the affairs of the company through its reports shows that its business this year has averaged $1 000,000 per month more than for the corresponding period last year. The public [illegible] some idea of the superior soundness of this vast financial undertaking and of the [illegible] management of the honorable gentlemen, its officers and live agents who conduct the business of this unsurpassed company.

ATLANTA, GA., July 1, 1872.—At a meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee of Fulton county, the day convened, at the office of Messrs. Hill & Candler, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, At a meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee, held in Atlanta on the 26th of June last, it was resolved that a convention of the Democratic party be held in the city of Atlanta, on the 24th day of July, at 12 o'clock, M., for the purpose of nominating an Electoral Ticket and a candidate for Governor; and,

Whereas, The Democratic party of Fulton county should be represented in said Convention, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Democrats of Fulton county, on Saturday, the 13th of July, do ballot for six delegates to represent the Democracy of Fulton county in said State Convention; that the balloting shall commence at the City Hall at 9 o'clock, A. M., and close at 8 o'clock, P. M., that the managers shall number the tickets of the voters and keep a list of the votes, and upon counting the votes the six persons receiving the highest number shall be declared elected, and that each delegate so elected shall have the right to appoint his alternate.

Resolved further, That Wm. M. [illegible], Esq., W. P. Hammond, Esq., and Lewis Clarke, Esq., are hereby appointed and requested to act as managers of said election for delegates, and in the event they, or either of them, shall fail to act, any three reliable Democrats may supply their places, to be appointed by the Chairman of the Executive Committee.

Will be conducted, as heretofore, on an Independent schedule, without being influenced by "fear, favor or affection." In politics we shall, as formerly, cooperate with the Democratic party, at the same time using every diligence to conciliate the Liberal Republican Movement believing, as we do, that in the combination and consolidation of the Democrats and Liberals, lies the only political hope of the country, to be rescued from Military Tyranny and Radical Domination.

To our friends we appeal to assist us in thus extending our circulation, and point with pride to Our Record for the past seven years as a consistent, independent and newsy journal. While we have made a few mistakes, yet our old files show, and experience has vindicated the fact that we have most always BEEN RIGHT in our political opinions and suggestions relative to the various important public questions that have come up since the war, upon which the South has been called to think or act. We can only add that we shall continue on the same schedule, relaxing no effort to give the latest, most reliable and fullest news attainable, not only upon political affairs, but all matters of public interest.

OUR FASHION LETTER.

Th... [illegible]
... to
... Watering Places.

Adirondack Outfits.

NEW YORK, July 1, 1872.

New York is empty. Everybody that was not off for Europe has gone to Boston. Some people find it difficult to realize this, for the streets and street cars seem to be as full as ever. But my own impression is, that the general opinion regarding the number of people in any one place is quite a mistake; the population of New York, for example, instead of being a million, is about a dozen—a baker's dozen, perhaps—more or less. But as likely to be less as more, and this simple dozen multiply themselves into what are considered separate entities, but which really have no individual existence, only occupy space, for it is the original dozen, and the dozen only, who turn up everywhere, who are iniquitous, who see everything, know everything and do everything for all the rest.

THIS IS NOT FASHION.

No, won't you take something else instead? I am as tired of them as the lady was who went to her dressmaker recently, and said, "anything, only do not dress me in the fashion." What is fashion to-day? Is it the mass of rubbish we see piled up on the counters of the great dry goods stores? Is it the ... we see in the street? Is it the non... that crowd the cars and steamboats? ... the bedizened dames who begin to flourish ... watering places? If it is any or all of ... I beg my readers to have none of it, ... turn to the petticoat and short-gown of ... great grandmother until they can find ... rational kind of clothing. How pleasant it was during a brief visit to the country recently, to meet a charming lady of

THE OLD SCHOOL.

She could not be called an old lady, though her hair was silvery white, for she was more vivacious than most young girls, and could entertain you with stores of incident and anecdotes acquired by reading, and a rich and varied personal experience.

Moreover, she was still slender, straight, and delicately fair. Her skin had never known the touch of powder or cosmetic, and a Princesse dress of fine nainsook, the seams only marked by lines of fine needle work embroidery, outlined her form as gracefully as though she had been sixteen instead of sixty.

How gladly the eyes rested on the soft flowing unbroken lines of that simple white ... How well that and a long black lace ... the same general style and outline ... "I have not had a ... reply.

"NOTHING FOR NICE."

Fashion has really run itself into the ground—there is nothing left. "Nothing for nice," as a lady recently and piteously observed. Silks and laces that used to be kept for grand occasions, are trailed in the street, and all the associations, the sentiment of dresses destroyed.

Girls with busties and paniers and ruffled skirts carry bundles and sell papers in the streets. What can fashion do to be fashion, but throw them off?

CHANGES IN FASHION.

The rapid changes and fluctuations in fashion which have taken place within the past few years are having some curious results. Houses which have made expensive fancy goods a specialty are being broken up. The reason is that articles carried over to the next season lose their value, and as an immense stock is required, in order to satisfy the exigeant demand for styles and shades and qualities, the merchant is a loser rather than a gainer by every season's stocks.

Take, as examples, neckties, laces and parasols. Shawls and round thread lace veils have given place to jackets and straight squares or three-cornered veils; high colored ties to fancy cravats of the most delicate shades, and the buff parasols, scolloped on the edge and lined with silk of a bright contrasting color, to large inclined parasols of neutral tints, bordered with rich fringe to match.

Said a merchant the other day: "You see that counter—it is covered with parasols which I sold last year from five to ten dollars each; now I cannot get two fifty for them. In that drawer are $5,000 worth of thread lace veils dead stock."

The rush to Europe helps to kill this class of trade. Ladies who are going, waiting till they can buy gloves, necktie, and a lace collar for $1 50, instead of spending that amount and more on one of these articles.

The question of where the pins go to has never been satisfactorily answered, but it is really funny to see where the parasols and neckties go to. Take a street car on Sunday and you shall find them, bright reds and green tied round stout necks and proudly clasped in short fat red hands. The thriftiest little lady in the world would give up the point after seeing such a sight as that.

WATERING PLACE TOILETTES.

But Rosa Matilda wants to know about toilettes for the watering places. She is going ... and what she is to get in addition to her ... and her pink and her gray and her ... and her mauve. I will tell you, my dear ... Matilda, you must get a dress of ... sh," just such crash as the cook uses in ... kitchen for "rollers," towelling in fact, and not a fine kind either. Make of it a loose blouse which tie at the back with a broad, pale rose colored sash. Get a broad-brimmed hat trimmed up a la Dolly Varden and trimmed with black and rose-colored ribbon, and if your skirt is black silk and narrow flounced and your bustie sufficiently large and your "tie" shoes sufficiently high you will cause a sensation.

One of a number of dresses prepared for ... port, consists of a pale blue silk dotted ... with pink rose buds and trimmed ... ttings of white organdy muslin cut ... ged with lace. A novelty in bathing costumes is made of white cashmere flannel, the kind called "infants'" flannels. The suit consists of trowsers and tunic, edged with narrow strips of blue or scarlet flannel pincked out upon the edge. They first made their appearance at Long Branch, and, of course, succeeded in attracting a large share of attention. The peculiarity about them is that on coming out of the water it is difficult to tell that the wearers have anything on at all.

ADIRONDACK COSTUMES.

For mountain excursions and camping out, male dressmakers are showing suits of serge and fine English water-proof cloth, consisting of a long plain polonaise, worn over full trowsers of the material, which the same, to quote the "Chinee," are to be tucked into the top of high boots, with broad heels and thick soles. The bottom of the polonaise should reach six inches below the knees. The costume is completed by a soft felt hat, a strap over the shoulders support the drinking-cup, a field-glass and a shawl, and on the mountain excursions by an Alpenstock.

Wealthy papas could not do a better thing for these young lady daughters than supply them with such an outfit, take them to the Adirondacks, or any other wild region, and camp out for the whole summer. It would take all the nonsense out of them and supply them with health and vigor for a life time.

LINEN SUITS.

Plain buff linen is not becoming to every one. Some semi-blonde women look yellow all over in a linen suit, and to these the "Tasso" cloth of the present season is a decided providence. "Tasso" cloth is batiste, with a twilled stripe in blue with a satin finish. It is used for the polonaise, the skirt being composed of the plain material. This blue stripe lights up the entire costume and has a wonderfully good effect.

Costumes of fine unbleached linen are hand embroidered in wool and trimmed with woolen guipure of the same shade as the embroidery; but these are very costly, ranging from seventy-five dollars to one hundred and fifty—rather a high figure for what is "only a linen suit after all."

The most lady-like suits of plain ecru linen consist of a walking skirt and long polonaise fitted into the figure, and simply trimmed with a single row of pleating, headed with a band of black velvet. The pleating forms a twelve inch flounce upon the skirt, but is not more than a third of that width upon the polonaise, and is headed or bordered with black velvet, according to taste, the pleating in the latter case taking an upright position.

FASHIONS FOR PLAIN PEOPLE.

The blouse waist and blouse polonaise are invaluable to those who wish to dress plainly yet stylishly at small expense, a white skirt waist, two skirts plainly hemmed, the upper one slightly draped at the sides, and a black lace jacket, constitute a costume adapted either for church or a picnic; while a plain skirt, with a long blouse polonaise slightly looped at the sides, is the best possible method of making the pretty striped prints and ginghams which are so useful for house wear, yet are not unpresentable in the street, at least in the country. The blouse polonaise is simply the blouse waist with a skirt. It is an excellent style for washing materials, and should be made simply without ruffling or puffing. The box pleating at the back and sack front gives it sufficient fullness, and care should be taken to give somewhat more of fullness to the skirt than is when ruffles are added. The blouse waist is pretty in striped and dotted linen, in plain linen lawn, and in colored cashmere. It can be worn with skirts of black silk, buff linen, striped print, or sprigged muslin. It is hardly ever out of place, and looks as well over the wash-tub as in the parlor. It is, moreover, cool, easily "done up," inexpensive, and durable. It is not adapted to thin materials; it is pre-eminently useful, and looks as much out of place in Swiss muslin or chambery gauze as a man's shirt.

The blouse polonaise is particularly adapted to washing materials for suits which are rendered dowdyish in the extreme by being cut into "Marguerites" and "Dolly Vardens," and puffed and bunched and ruffled into all sorts of unmeaning and grotesque forms. It requires little or no trimming, and finds an effective finish on a broad, black sash made with hanging loops and short ends.

Fine sprigged lawns make very pretty church or street dresses made perfectly plain, hemmed skirt, French waist, and worn with a black lace shawl draped over the shoulders and fastened in at the back of the waist with a wide ribbon sash the color of the sprigs in the dress. English straw bonnet trimmed with ribbons of the same shade, brown, lilac, light-green or blue with a pink or the rose on ... Plain self-colored costumes of any material are now happily relieved by handkerchiefs of black lace worn upon the neck, the ends crossed and fastened in front or crossed and thrown back. Made of large size and rich lace with long rounded ends. They are used by many ladies to throw over white evening dresses when the falling dew warns them that some slight protection is necessary.

THE BAR ROOM REMEDY for weakness of the stomach is a dose of Rum Bitters. They are surcharged with Fusel Oil, a deadly element, which is rendered more active by the pungent astringents with which it is combined. If your stomach is weak, or your liver or your bowels disordered, tone, strengthen and regulate them with VINEGAR BITTERS, a pure VEGETABLE STOMACHIC, CORRECTIVE AND APERIENT, free from alcohol, and capable of infusing new vitality into your exhausted and disordered system.

A WHOLE PEOPLE'S OPINION.—When a nation of forty millions accepts and endorses as a Standand Restorative an article that it has had the fullest opportunities of testing during a period of twelve years, who can be so absurdly incredulous as to doubt the excellence of the preparation? Plantation Bitters has passed through this ordeal and is now the most popular proprietary medicine on this continent. It would be difficult to find an adult of either sex between the Atlantic and the Pacific, or between the northeast corner of Maine and the Gulf of Mexico, who does not know, either from personal experience or observation, that this renowned vegetable remedy is the purest tonic and stomachic and the finest alterative and regulating medicine at present before the world. As a preventive of, and cure for, diseases generated by malaria, and as a specific for dyspepsia, rheumatism, and all nervous and bilious affections, it is admitted to be absolutely unapproached. Plantation Bitters may be fairly pronounced the Favorite Household Tonic and Alterative of the Western Hemisphere.

LOST HEALTH REGAINED.—Self-neglect lays the foundation of much bodily suffering. As a rule men are more solicitous to repair and preserve their houses, stock in trade and other perishable property than to repair and preserve themselves. They can see when a wall requires a prop, or a weak structure a girder, but appear to be unconscious of, or indifferent to, the cracks and flaws and evidences of decay in their own frail and sensitive organizations.

The consequence of this want of common prudence is that thousands fall by the wayside in the prime of life every year who might have lived to enjoy a hale and hearty old age, if they had resorted to the proper means of recruiting their failing vigor at the proper time.

Seeing what that famous vitalizing and invigorating elixir, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has done for countless multitudes of the enervated and broken down, and with the long, unbroken record of its cures before him, it seems amazing that any sufferer from premature decay, nervous weakness, dyspepsia, biliousness, chronic constipation, or disease of a remittent or intermittent character, should ... even for an hour, to seek the aid which ... toning, regulating and invigorating prop... never failed ... that Hostetter's ...
